Backend Engineer | Builds production Java 21 / Spring Boot microservices for telecom commerce

EXPERIENCE

Comviva (telecom commerce software)

Software Engineer

Bengaluru, India

Aug 2025 – Present

- Made promotions qualify against the right product-offering version by passing versions to the rules engine, defaulting missing ones and backfilling old data; one of 90+ features and production fixes over 3 releases.
- Core contributor to 3 Java 21 / Spring Boot eligibility microservices (gRPC, Kafka, MongoDB) for telecom offers.
- Root-caused a Critical incident at an operator's iPhone 18 launch (CPU at 2.5 of 3 cores, 180 s checkout timeouts): thread and heap dumps showed 14 async calls piling up on Java's shared pool plus a quadratic mapping.
- Fixed it with a bounded executor (8–16 threads, queue 200, caller-runs) on all 14 calls and byte-identical indexed lookups; 8 new tests incl. a mutation-tested guard, zero new failures; held back a risky wallet-path change.
- Root-caused a 500 error with two live catalogue versions and a rollout rejected by a 2-space Helm indent.
- Added multi-provider sign-in (Keycloak, JWT), reworked shared Kafka auth and fixed flagged container CVEs.
- Built the dashboard and browsing panel of AI Assets, the company's web and VS Code app for ~316 AI assets.
- Built a human-approved AI bug-triage workflow: 4 measured cases took 45.7 min vs ~12 h estimated by hand.
